

January 8, 2025

Dear FBA Families,

Out of abundance of caution and considering the mix of rain and wintry precipitation being possible Thursday and Thursday into early Friday morning, the decision has been made to cancel school for tomorrow, Thursday, January 9, and Friday, January 10, 2025. This decision is being made for the safety of our families and staff as they travel from various outlying communities in and around San Antonio. We have also had to consider the intermediate heating difficulties that our buildings have been experiencing. We know that school closures impact our families, and we are hoping that by making this decision early, it allows for proper planning.

Thank you,

FBA School Office
